

osteoporosis. Cardiovascular diseases are the leading killer of postmenopausal women, and breast cancer is the second killer among cancer in women. Colorectal cancer is responsible for at least 4 percent of the deaths of women aged 50 to 79 and is the third-leading killer among cancer in women. Osteoporosis is the condition resulting from a weakening of the bone after menopause. The information provided by the Women's Health Initiative will lead to breakthrough treatments for these diseases and improve the lives of women in Texas and across the Nation.

The Baylor Clinical Center has recruited 3,300 women for an observational study to gather information regarding risk factors for these diseases. The Baylor Clinical Center will also recruit an additional 2,100 women for a clinical trial to research whether diet and hormone replacement therapy help women lead healthier lives. Information gathered from this clinical study will help women to make informed decisions about which therapies to use to prevent disease and stay healthy.

I also want to highlight the efforts of Dr. Jennifer Cousins, director for the Center for Women's Health, to bring this critical WHI study to the Houston area. I believe Dr. Cousins is critical to the success of this study and she should be commended for her hard work.

I am honored to have worked closely with Dr. Cousins and Baylor College of Medicine to expand the WHI's study to ensure even more women benefit from their groundbreaking research. I look forward to continuing to work with Baylor and the Women's Health Initiative to further expand this study and provide more funding for the National Institutes of Health [NIH] and the Office of Women's Health, which funds this important program.

Mr. Speaker, I congratulate the Women's Health Initiative at Baylor College of Medicine for 3 years of excellence and innovation in medicine and wish to congratulate the 2,000 study participants who will participate in a birthday party on Thursday, October 23, 1997. I look forward to even greater successes as they work to ensure healthier lives for women in the 21st century.

HONORING RALPH LISTON

HON. RALPH M. HALL

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 9, 1997

Mr. HALL of Texas. Mr. Speaker, it is a privilege for me to rise today in memory of Ralph Moody Liston, a prominent member of the Wills Point, TX, community who died recently at the age of 73.

Ralph Liston was a successful farmer, rancher, and businessman. He owned a propane company, exterior design company, and lumber community. As a farmer, he was once named Outstanding Conservation Farmer of the Year.

Ralph also was active in his community. He was a longtime member of the school board, served as election judge, Chamber of Commerce president, chairman of Van Zandt County Building Committee and a member of the Farmers Home Administration Board. He was a member of Masonic Lodge 422 and was active in the Methodist Church, where he served in various capacities through the years.

I felt a special kinship to Ralph—in that I was always told by my mother that we were both named after the same distant relative—Mary Katherine Moody. I knew his wonderful mother and dad as Cousin Mary and Cousin Jim. It seems that part of our family came to Texas from Arkansas. Ralph carried on the great tradition of love of family and success in business and faithfulness to his church—a tradition handed down through the years. I will miss him.

Survivors include his wife of 54 years, Helen; sons, Rickey and Ralph Moody Jr.; daughters, Linda Wehr and Teena Liston; seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to extend my sympathy to his family and many friends in Wills Point and Van Zandt County. As we adjourn today, I would like to take this opportunity to pay my last respects to this great citizen—Ralph Moody Liston.

TRIBUTE TO HENRY B. GONZALEZ

SPEECH OF

HON. CHET EDWARDS

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, October 7, 1997

Mr. EDWARDS. Mr. Speaker, today it is with great pride yet with heartfelt sorrow that I ask members to join me in honoring our colleague, HENRY B. GONZALEZ, on 36 years of service in the U.S. House of Representatives.

At the end of this year, HENRY B. GONZALEZ will take his leave of this body. A great void will be left in our ranks when he is gone. His towering presence, financial expertise, and willingness to take a stand for causes large and small will be sorely missed.

Although the country and this Congress have changed dramatically since HENRY B. GONZALEZ assumed his congressional seat in November 1961, he has always remained true to this country, to his beloved 20th Congressional District in San Antonio and to this Congress.

Like so many of us, HENRY B. GONZALEZ dedicated his life to serving his community and his country. I was extremely blessed to follow in his footsteps first to the Texas State Senate and then to the U.S. House of Representatives.

My relationship with HENRY B. GONZALEZ began long before we served together here in the U.S. House. In a way, we served together in the Texas Senate although he had left that body two decades before I set foot there in 1983.

In the chamber of the Texas Senate hangs a painted portrait of HENRY B. GONZALEZ who served from 1956 to 1961. As a young senator, I remember looking at his portrait and the paintings of other famous Texans that hang there including Stephen F. Austin, the father of Texas; and Lyndon B. Johnson and Barbara Jordan who both served the State and the Nation with distinction.

I always considered myself fortunate to be serving in the State legislative body where HENRY B. GONZALEZ broke new ground for improved race relations in Texas. In 1957, HENRY B. GONZALEZ proudly and bravely stood on the senate floor to fight and filibuster nine bills that would have expanded the then common practice of segregation.

After 36 hours HENRY B. GONZALEZ and his allies had successfully stopped seven of the segregation bills. He was subjected to fierce personal and professional attacks, but refused to retreat or surrender. His determination to do what was right for all Texans began the process of tearing down the wall of racial separation that existed in the State.

I never had the privilege of serving with him in the Texas Senate. But when I saw the portrait, I always tried to adhere to the principles he brought to office—honesty, integrity, and loyalty. His reputation, then as now, is that of a legislator who would fight for all people no matter their race, color, creed, or religion.

It was Texas' loss and the country's gain when HENRY B. GONZALEZ resigned his senate seat to make a successful run for the U.S. House of Representatives.

On November 4, 1961, HENRY GONZALEZ took his congressional seat and immediately found his calling on the House Committee on Banking, Finance, and Urban Affairs. Although the name of the committee has changed through the years, his commitment to consumers, small business owners, and taxpayers has never wavered.

He served as Banking Committee chairman from 1989 to 1994. Under his leadership the panel conducted more than 500 hearings and moved 71 bills through the legislative process. During his tenure laws were passed that protected bank depositors, made credit available to small business owners, cracked down on financial fraud and other crimes, and made housing more accessible to Americans.

Despite the long hours and hectic schedule of a Congressman and committee chairman, HENRY and his wife of 57 years, Bertha, raised eight children. Henry and Bertha now have 21 grandchildren and 3 great-granddaughters who will continue to bring joy in the years to come.

It has been a great privilege to serve with HENRY B. GONZALEZ and to work with him on so many issues of importance to Texas and the United States. Although HENRY B. GONZALEZ is heading home, he will always be remembered for his selfless service and willingness to fight for principle.

I ask Members to join with me in honoring HENRY B. GONZALEZ for his many contributions in the past and for his success in the future. HENRY B. GONZALEZ may be leaving this House, but he will never be forgotten either here or at home.

His portrait will hang in the Texas State Senate and his memory will remain in the hearts of his many friends and colleagues here in the U.S. House of Representatives. Goodbye, Mr. Chairman.
